What's New in the?

The AvirMail program is named for its three original developers, Benjamin Reichelt, Emmanuel Khintchenko and Stefan Eschweiler. All three of them also own the AvirMail.org webshop.The AvirMail program contains a frontend for incoming e-mails, a web server for incoming and outgoing e-mails and a server-side program, which contains the actual Anti-Spam protection. If the e-Mails are uploaded to the web server, they are downloaded to the user's computer. The letters are filtered by the AvirMail program and posted in a specified directory (also selectable). The AvirMail program comes bundled with AvirSoft Client. With the AvirSoft Client you can easily transfer all messages from your other clients. What can AvirMail do for me? AvirMail can help you manage incoming e-mail on a windows network. With a AvirSoft client, like AvirMail you can also transfer all messages from your other clients. AvirMail can filter all received e-mails and display them into a preview window. You can select the filter criteria and modify settings. In the preview window the sender, subject, size, date, header can be displayed. Files with attachments can also be seen in the preview window.You can reply immediately to the e-mail - without having to download it onto the computer. You can select the new message option, if you want to reply for this email.If you reply to this e-mail, AvirMail will filter all recipients and the real reply address. You can save your reply and send it later. This could be useful if the origin of the e-mail is changed. If a new e-mail is sent to the same address, it will be pre-selected. Each e-mail can have its own reply address. You can also display all links or attachments in a different list. You can switch between all lists using the check box and the close button. AvirMail can also display the size of each e-mail (normal, txt, rtf), date and time of the e-mail (normal, txt, rtf) and the recipient. What's new in AvirMail 11.2? AvirMail is a software solution to a common problem - a frequent incoming mail problem. With AvirMail you can preview and manage all incoming E-Mails when they are still on
