How To - Step by Step Tutorials on Starting a Window Seat Model Build. I need a sample of the new Scottsdale, AZ City Hall Roof Replacement Project. There is a photo of the roof in it's current state and then a photo showing the planned replacement roof. For when I finally get around to it, but it isn't time sensitive to get around to it soon. I will probably leave it until it is no longer raining or has snowed in at that location. I have plans to replicate the vision of a treehouse on it but that's a future project The Glass Wall is a small but functional glass shed with a small wall built around it. It allows for easy cleaning up of that part of your home but it still protects your lawn and garden. The wall of course is removable. The material is. As you can see, I have added two doors to the side. A small window to look in from the outside and a larger door for easy access from the inside. The sides of the Glass Wall are reinforced with a secure locking system. I have also included some natural light to give it a little ambiance. I am. I am in the process of finishing up the first stage of my work on the glass wall project. This is the first model of a larger project I am undertaking to better understand the design world. This is not the finished work but I am adding detail as
