Dogs.Clinico-radiological assessment of vertebral haemangiomas and vascular malformations. The objective of this study was to evaluate the clinic-radiological features of haemangiomas and vascular malformations in an Indian population. The subjects were 20 patients diagnosed to have primary spinal haemangiomas and vertebral malformations. The average age of the patients was 20 years. The demographics and clinical features of haemangiomas and the clinical course were analyzed. Plain radiographs and magnetic resonance images were also analyzed. The haemangiomas in the vertebral column are usually multiple and in our series, they were either singular or multiple. The pedicles were spared in 17 cases (85%). Eleven cases had a soft tissue component in the haemangioma. Seven patients (35%) had associated Klippel-Trénaunay syndrome. The haemangiomas were widely variable in size. The spinal malformations included Chiari type 1 in three patients, one case each of Klippel-Trénaunay and Weils syndromes and dysraphic lesions in
