I am a wife of 23 years and mam of 4 year old twin boys. I also have two dogs and a 4 year old cat. My husband is a tall, over weight former power lifter who now does marketing for a company on the east coast. We have a combined income of about $80,000. We have some financial challenges and have been on limited income for some time. We live in a 2 story house. It has not seen much of a face lift since the remodel. We are looking for a house with four bedrooms that is close to good schools and has a driveway large enough for my husband's truck. If the house has a garage, it would be a bonus. I have grown weary of looking, we live in Fairbanks, Alaska, with it's harsh winters. Our family is not perfect. Neither am I. I have a do better list for myself. We haven't had much luck dating, either. My husband has been dating a girl from high school that he dated when we first moved to Alaska. Her name is Rachel. I met her once and we kinda hit it off. The problem is her family has lived here since the 50's and are close knit. I know someone is going to ask why I would want to live in a place where I know almost no one. The truth is, it's a better situation than dating anyone here. I don't mind not dating anyone. My children have friends from school, my ex has friends from work, etc, my stepson has friends. My home is pretty insulated for that. There is not a lot of dating in Fairbanks. The place where we live has a few nice churches, though. The dating scene is really for singles with children. There are a few churches for couples. If we could find something close to work we would move. I would hate to loose my stepson, he is my pride and joy. It's just not practical to move him at his age. Plus, I don't know if I would want to move even if we could afford it. Please don't ask where my 09e8f5149f

What's New In?

Desktop Flag 3D Screensaver is a fun app that can display a screensaver with your country's flag. Alternatively, it can launch an animated 3D wallpaper. It is easy to install and configure, even by first-time users. Toward the end of the installation procedure, you can set the animated wallpaper to automatically run at systems startup, as well as the default screensaver of your computer. From the 'Settings' screen you can browse the countries for a flag, as well as select the background image - it can either represent a season, clouds, or a national landmark (e.g. Statue of Liberty, Sydney Opera House). Plus, you can adjust the flag's transparency level and toggle between screensaver and animated wallpaper mode. On the other hand, you may also select a custom image from your hard drive to be used as a flag (it doesn't necessarily have to be a flag). The simple-to-use application doesn't put a strain on the computer's resources, as it uses a low amount of CPU and system memory. It is very responsive to commands and didn't cause the operating system to freeze, crash or pop up error dialogs. Unfortunately, the app does not come with sounds. Otherwise, all patriotic people should be pleased with Desktop Flag 3D Screensaver. Flag Copyright NoticeAll published content on this site is Copyright i-setup.com or the respective author.
