.Q: Visual Studio 2005 in-place diffing Can somebody tell me how to setup Visual Studio 2005 to do in-place diffs? In eclipse you can just drag and drop the file you want to compare, and it will do the diff for you. I am currently using Visual Studio 2005 for C# development and would like to do the same thing for a file that I am editing in the same window. Is there some registry key I can set or something? A: You can use the Merge tool. You can also use the Open with/Edit with... dialogue to select a different tool. A: Since VS2010 you can use the Merge tool, which is available under the Team Explorer view. To access it just hover the cursor on the Quick Diff icon and select Merge A: VS2010/VS2013/VS2015 it's all the same. Right click on the file -> Open With -> Edit with -> Merge This all can be controlled via registry tweaks, but I don't know how to make it happen for the same window. But you can right click on file -> Extract to -> Open with -> Merge Q: Authenticate user in Blazor service I have a new Blazor app (beta 0.5.1) with this basic structure: public class AccountController : PageModel { private readonly IAccountService _accountService; public AccountController(IAccountService accountService) { _accountService = accountService; } } This gets called from a Razor Page... @page "/admin" @page "/account" Account

Arteriography and Doppler color flow imaging were essential in the diagnosis, and a brief review of the literature is presented. Early operative intervention is necessary to prevent potential limb ischemia and embolic complications. Thromboembolic prophylaxis and anticoagulation should be instituted.Q: Covariance or Contravariance I am struggling to understand covariance and contravariance. It is to be noted that the properties apply to the types only and not to the names of the types (e.g. List is a covariant list while List is a contravariant list). I have a doubt. Say we have two classes, one is List and the other is List. If the interface is List, it is covariant (e.g. List would accept List, but the List would not accept List). 6d1f23a050
