Some people want to learn English words or Chinese words when they live in English or Chinese speaking countries. They might have to learn new words and write them while they study. But it is a boring task to learn words in a boring way directly from a book. It is like reading a book without using your brain. It is not a good way to learn English words or Chinese words. So I have an idea to design a game which can help people to learn English words or Chinese words in a funny way. That is to play a game while you are learning the words. So it is a game that can make your brain to learn a new word with the help of your heart. If you want to learn English words or Chinese words, it is best for you! This game consists of four game modes. Each game mode contains over 20000 words!

□Game modes□ - Story Mode - Practice Mode - Online Mode - Music Mode

□Game Concept□ The game is a tool to help players to learn words. As we all know, one of the most efficient ways to learn a new word is to hear that word from a conversation. That is to say, one must hear the words from many conversations during their whole learning life. That is why the game can help to make the players hear the words repeatedly which makes the words much easier to learn. The whole game runs in a funny way. That is to say, the game can help to make the players learn words while they are playing a funny game. They should not think about whether to learn the words. They should just laugh and have fun in the game! So the characters in the game are different from normal video games. They are the most commonly used words in ordinary people's life. As a tool for helping to learn English or Chinese words, it is best for you! My game aims at people from all kinds of the ages. So I have designed a simple and funny gameplay to make the game more fun. You can choose any mode to play the game for you! Please buy this game! It is a great tool which can make your brain to learn new words without your conscious. Some people might ask why they need to learn the words at all? I think to know a new language is like to be a baby. Each baby needs to be cared by its parents. That is why they need to be familiar to the knowledge in the baby's brain. As you know, we never stop learning all

Game Instructions:

You are lost deep in a strange and wonderful world. In a small world. Your friends don't know how to get you out. To find your way out you have to clear the land of blocks. Swimming helps! Get deep under water and poke blocks out of the way. Put them back and some times they bounce out the other way! For blocks that you don't choose for that, pressing A+Y+5 will place a bomb on them and make them explode when the block is pushed down. Blocks that explode give you points and so do the bombs. To help you to clear the land there are many enemies and monsters of different sizes. Some bigger and some smaller, but all want to destroy you. To stand a chance you need to find secret areas of the land that are easy to escape from the enemy. You don't want to fall in these areas because then you will be extra lost. To escape the land you will be able to dig through the dirt and rock, telling you where interesting places are deep down. You do that by digging with the right key.

Enjoy
