Installing Hadoop in a VM on the server. [2016-11-02] Hadoop is best for big data analysis. A cluster of servers are also required to create a cluster of nodes to use to perform the data analysis. [The following text is a transcript of the video video.] Hello. This is Joe and welcome to Tech Talk Today. In this segment we are going to be going over the different ways we can set up Hadoop to run in a virtual machine. [There are a lot of ways to do this.] We will be using vSphere to show you this. [I will show you how to set up.] You will be able to create a cluster of vSphere virtual machines. You will need to know how to use the vSphere client to do this. [You will also need to know how to configure vSphere to allow you to use vCenter.] You will need at least a 6 node cluster to create a cluster of nodes. [Start with at least 6 vSphere servers.] We will be creating a vCenter cluster. We are going to assume that we have a server to run the vSphere client. We are going to create a cluster. At this point, you will need to know how to create a cluster. [You will be creating a cluster in the vSphere Client.] [You will need to know how to create a cluster.] [I will show you how.] [You will need at least 6 vSphere servers.] [You are going to click on the icon in the top right.] You will need at least 6 vSphere servers. Next, you will create a cluster. [The blue.] The blue VCL icon, you will click on the cluster name. [You will need to know how to create.] [You will create a new cluster.] [You can also add to an existing cluster.] [I will show you how.] [I will show you how to add a cluster.] [You will then name your cluster.] [You will need to know how to change the cluster name.] You can add a name to the cluster. You will need to know how to change a cluster name. You will then need to know how to add servers to your cluster. [I will
