You can also assign your own audio track with your own EQ settings. In all, there are 96 effects, that you can apply across 4 different EQ profiles. As for automation, you can set a timeline, where you can monitor and control the different parts of the audio. Another cool feature is the snapshot timeline option, where you can make a copy of a certain portion of the timeline, which you can modify as much as you need to, without affecting the original.
