Image caption It has been a record year for number of children reported missing Australia's Missing Persons and Child Abduction Unit said it had treated 179 child disappearances in 2017. It said that in the year to March, there was a 90% rise in the number of missing children reported to police when compared to 2016. It said most child disappearances happened in regional and rural areas. Australia's community is showing a strong commitment to solving missing child cases, it said. It said there was still a long way to go to find child victims of crime in Australia, and it would continue to fight long to bring those children home. "We encourage the community to report any child suspected of being involved in a crime to the police," said the unit. The unit added that it had opened 17 e79caf774b
