The work of director Peter Jackson has revitalized the classic works of Tolkien and other Tolkien inspired authors such as JRR. Tolkien. Tolkien wrote a series of classic novels beginning in the 1930s and published in 1954; his first edition of The Hobbit is widely regarded as the world's first modern novel. The Lord of the Rings is his most ambitious tome and was meant as a prequel to the entire trilogy, and was published in two volumes. Shortly after its completion, Tolkien established the Lord of the Rings Board, a group of secondary characters who assisted his future writing projects. “The Lord of the Rings” was nominated for Best Picture at the 2003 Academy Awards. This movie trilogy has grossed more than $4.7 billion and it is believed to be the most successful fantasy series of all time. The Lord of the Rings trilogy, as a whole, has won an estimated $282 million in Academy Awards at the Golden Globes Awards (1999). The Bafta awards made it a triple winner winning Best Adapted Screenplay (2002), Best Direction (2002) and Best Musical Score (2002) for the trilogy. In 1999 for the “Independent Spirit Awards” he received Independent Spirit Award for best Director of a Fantasy Film for “The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring.” To give you a better understanding of “The Lord of the Rings” trilogy, the movie poster in its
