similar to a text box in terms of search.... what i am trying to do is search from the first table, and then pull data from the second table which should appear in the next page. can i do this in mysql or php.

thanks in advance... A: Yes, you can do this in MySQL or PHP. You will have to make two queries to do it though. `SELECT * FROM user_info WHERE user_info.id=?` `SELECT * FROM search_data WHERE search_data.value=?` You would need to use a LIMIT in your first SELECT query to limit the amount of records returned. The second SELECT query will return the next page of search_data records.

With Kidneys Full Of Toxic Waste 08/18/04 New research suggests a link between environmental toxins and the disease of male infertility. A new University of Florida study has suggested a link between environmental toxins and the disease of male infertility. "A toxic environmental exposure was recently implicated in the aetiology of male reproductive disorders" explains UF biologists and molecular toxicologists Drs. Janice L. Lucas and Timothy E. Kazis. Their team is the first to identify microinjection of an endocrine disruptor into the male reproductive tract as an initiating event leading to infertility. The discovery is more evidence that our environment is triggering male reproductive dysfunctions as a result of environmental contaminants. This revelation is the first study in animals to link a hormonal and/or genetic disruption with infertility. Previous studies have linked environmental contamination with infertility through a genetic alteration, Assessment of the applicability of the poly-gamma-glutamyl-glutamate hypothesis for the prevention of trimethyltin-induced central nervous system toxicity. Prior studies suggest that the poly-gamma-glutamyl-glutamate (GGG) complex may be a major endogenous, chelator of cationic metals in the brain and thereby may be responsible for damage to central neurons. In the present study, GGG (1.2 micromol) was administered s.c. or i.v. to adult female CD-1 mice 1 hr before each of 3 intravenous injections of trimethyltin (TMT; 3.5 mumol TMT/kg). An intoxicated mouse was euthanized on day 2, and the brains were examined for damage. GGG given s.c. did not prevent any of the neurological symptoms of TMT intoxication. A similar regimen of GGG pretreatment given i.v. was partially effective at protecting against TMT intoxication, as revealed by improved performance on a spatial memory
